I respectfully disagree with the decision to settle the government's case against Microsoft. You may notice that this email was sent via Microsoft Outlook. Until @home crashed, I was a loyal Netscape user for email and internet browsing. After the system went down, I was virtually forced to adopt Internet Explorer and Outlook for browsing and e-mail, because A T T would support users with those programs but not Netscape. I deeply resent that choice has been taken away from me, and the settlement you propose will do nothing to deter Microsoft's heavy handed tactics and market domination.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Nora Rousso
